

April 15

On April 15, 1865, President Abraham Lincoln died from injuries sustained the night before while attending a performance at the Ford Theater. How do you think U.S. history may have been different if Lincoln had not been shot?