

On this day in 1834, the first wagon train reached the state of California. This first trail opened up the West. Would you liked to have been on that first wagon train? Would you have been up for the adventure and challenges? Explain your thinking.